

Full bloom

The beauty of a 100 percent organic perfume: It smells like fresh flowers—lush Egyptian jasmine, sweet ylang-ylang, zesty bergamot—plucked straight from the garden. Organic Glam Jasmine eau de parfum, $220.

WAKE-UP CALL

These dark winter months have me looking eternally tired. My saving grace: Ole Henriksen Truth Is in the Eyes Eye Peel Concentrate, $65. The brightening, plumping mix of algae, soy, and vitamin C works like sleep in a tube.

Getting cheeky

I'm completely smitten with Yves Saint Laurent's genius Crème Blush in Fuchsia Temptation, $38—it goes on like a second skin the way only a cream formula can, but then dries to a powdery (not greasy) velvet finish.

THIS MONTH'S BEST

beauty buys

LOVE IT, NEED IT

■ Bouncy and blindingly shiny—my hair looked just like Julia Roberts' after my first cut with her go-to stylist, Serge Normant. I can only dream of having him sculpt my strands every day, so I was thrilled to discover his new line. My faves: Dry Oil Finishing Spray, $24, and Meta Revive Dry Shampoo, $25. As good as Normant himself? Well, almost... Speaking of hair gods, a must-see is Vidal Sassoon The Movie. Watch the icon invent '60s mod style alongside pal Mary Quant and snip Mia Farrow's waves into her transformative Rosemary's Baby pixie.

Ying Chu
Beauty Director
Ying Chu

NOSTALGIC NOSE: TALC-Y AND DELICATE,
LOVE, CHLOÉ EAU DE PARFUM, $85, HAPPILY
REMINDS ME OF THAT OLD COTY POWDER FROM MY MOTHER'S VANITY.

LIP SERVICE

Soothing and buttery, this lip balm from Serge Lutens, $65, imparts a modern matte finish, making it an ideal match for high-drama eye makeup—and a staple in my bag.

Inner beauty

Look and feel good: Chantecaille's Sea Turtle Palette, $79, supports environmental group WIDECAST, while the pretty shadows illuminate eyes and cheeks with a stunning goddess glow.

STYL: LITZ; HAIR: WESTWOOD; MAKEUP: CHIU; HAIR: JACOBSON; MAKEUP: JACOBSON; HAIR: JACOBSON; MAKEUP: JACOBSON